

THANODI SPARES & STATIONERY

Thanodi Spares and Stationery is your one-stop- stationery and all sundry related to academic equipment as well as office furniture is concerned.

This budding enterprise in Savoy Building in the heart of Kuruman central business district is owned by Pesalema Theo, a go-getter entrepreneur.

She supplies office equipment, office furnisher, stationery both formal and academic, ink toners, cartridges, photocopying machines, computers and computer spares.

Theo wants to be a big player in the stationery supplying industry, such that she now intends to bid for tenders to supply municipality as well as government department will all their stationery requirements. She also intends to go big by moving to bigger premises, where she can showcase all her products to customers, scholars and big corporate companies as well as compete with established stationery brands suppliers currently dominating the space.

The future looks brighter for Thenodi as they have added a delivery van to assist with heavy deliveries as well transport stock to remote areas of the province. With such growth in the pipeline, Thenodi's will soon be opening more branches across the Northern Cape Province as there is a new university (Sol Plaatje University) that was built by the state to serve the population, hence adding more business for Theo.
